

The International Journal of applied ENGINEERING EDUCATION

Editor-in-Chief: Michael Wald
Hamburg Educational Partnership
Germany

Contents

M. S. Wald	81	Editorial
	82-85	Engineering Education World
Lord Tombs	86-88	Personal View
M. S. Wald	89-91	Is a Revolution in the Classroom Coming?
J. A. D. Ackroyd	92-99	Teaching Aeronautics by Historical Example
D. F. Radcliffe	100-105	The Production of Video Material for Integration into Courses
R. Latorre, Y. Hatamura and H. Ohashi	106-113	New Mechanical Engineering 1991: The University of Tokyo Approach
C. F. Newberry	114-125	The NASA/USRA Advanced Design Program at California State Polytechnic University, Pomona: An Infusion of Curriculum Strength and Innovation
S. K. Bhattacharya and V. V. Mandke	126-131	Designing Interactive Teaching-Learning Systems for Technical Education
D. A. Smith, R. G. Jacquot and D. L. Whitman	132-137	Digital Simulation of Kinematic Machinery Systems
M. Aldeen	138-146	Development of a Computer-Aided Experiment in Classic Control Theory
W. G. Steele and H. W. Coleman	147-153	Integrating Uncertainty Analysis Concepts into Undergraduate Laboratory Courses
B. K. Hodge	154-160	Using Symbolic Manipulation Languages to Enhance Instructional Material

INDEXED/ABSTRACTED IN: BIOSIS Database, Education Tech. Abst.,
INSPEC Database, International Civil Engng. Abs.,
PASCAL-CNRS Database

ISSN 0742-0269
IJAEEX 7(1) 511-680 (1992)

TEMPUS
Publications